Statement (PS)	(Customer)
PS-1	a Heritage Conservation Analyst / Government Policy Maker	identify which countries and regions have the most UNESCO World Heritage Sites and the highest concentration of sites 'In Danger'	the raw UNESCO dataset is large, unstructured, and spread across many attributes (Country, Region, Danger, Date_inscribed)	there is no single, easy-to-read view that shows the true scale of at-risk sites at a glance	overwhelmed and unable to prioritize conservation funding and preservation efforts effectively
PS-2	a Tourism Board Official / Cultural Researcher	understand how heritage site inscriptions have trended over time across different regions	the inscription dates and regional groupings are buried in raw rows with no visual trend	manually tracking growth patterns year over year is slow and error-prone	unable to confidently identify which regions are increasing their conservation efforts
